My recommendation: Order shoes (without taps) from Stevens Clogging Supplies/Shoes/Ms Stomper page (around $52.00). They run pretty true to size. Stevens return policy is on their website.

Order the shoes without taps then get the taps from me and glue them on.

OR, you can glue a pair of taps onto any kind of shoe if you don't want to invest in clogging shoes!

For dancing on the wood floors in the East Valley, please use GLUE-ON style taps and install using a GOOP product (may be purchased in the Paint Department at Home Depot, Lowe's, Ace Hardware). Any type of goop will work (household, marine, etc.), or Liquid Nails or Loctite Clear Silicone. The adhesive used must be silicone based. I sell glue-on taps for $15.00/set.

It's best to buy GLUE-ON taps if you are going to be dancing on wood floors. The burrs around the nail holes are known to scratch wood floors plus the nails sometimes fall out, if they are not put on correctly.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR INSTALLING TAPS using goop:

1. Wipe tap and sole of shoe clean. Then Lay tap in desired place on shoe and outline with pencil. Press one of the adhesive dots onto the underside of each rivet hole (to keep adhesive out of rivet). Or, you can use little bits of masking tape to cover the inside of the rivets.
2. Optional: It's a good idea to help fill up the gap between the sole and the underside of the tap with two-sided tape. You can use Fast-Ons. They may be purchased at Stevens Worldwide (web address given above). If you are using Fast-Ons, apply glue to both sides of them (be sure to remove the protective paper first). If you are not using Fast-Ons, you will need lots of goop to fill up the gap between the sole of the shoe and the underside of the tap.
3. Apply adhesive to inside of pencil marks on the bottom of the sole. Also apply adhesive to the underside of the tap (generous amounts)
4. Press taps into place and hold taps in place with masking tape until adhesive dries (usually best to wait at least one day).
